

El Higuero Intl to Punta Cana Intl

---

An adventurous flight that gives you the opportunity to take in the beauty of the Dominican Republic and discover its points of interest. Depart from El Higuero airport with destination Punta Cana. During takeoff, you will see the surrounding verdant mountains, the tropical coastline with its white beaches, and the blue ocean stretching to the horizon. Once airborne, you will be drawn to the villages along the coast with their colorful houses and crowded beaches. Landing in Punta Cana will allow you to admire the white sand beaches and luxurious resorts surrounding the airport. The Punta Cana tourist area is famous for its nightlife, restaurants, and recreational activities.

No. of Legs:	1
Total distance:	98 nm
Author:	PerfectFlight

1Legs

1.1Leg 1: MDJB - MDPC

Departure: El Higuero Intl (MDJB)

Destination: Punta Cana Intl (MDPC)

Distance: 98,5 nm

1.1.1STDMG-Santo Domingo

Distance: 6,0 nm

Dist. from Dept.: 6,0 nm

Dist. to Dest.: 92,5 nm

True Course: 162°

Magnetic Course: 174°

After taking off from runway 19, turn slightly left to 170 southeast to fly over the city of Santo Domingo.

In addition to being the capital of the Dominican Republic, Santo Domingo is also one of the oldest cities in the Caribbean. The fortified historic center, the Zona Colonial, features cobblestone streets and buildings dating back to the 1500s, including the cathedral, the first to be built in the New World. In Plaza de España, surrounded by cafes, is the Alcázar de Colón palace, now one of the city's many museums. Notable medieval and Renaissance works are on display here.

1.1.2BCHCA-Bocha Cica

Distance: 19,5 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 25,5 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 73,0 nm
True Course: 94°
Magnetic Course: 106°

Keep skimming the coast's gentle arc eastward. The Caribbean's waves glitter on your right. After 20 nautical miles, San Pedro de Macoris rises, a bustling port framed by the Higuamo River's broad mouth, its pastel homes a vivid splash against the green.

Boca Chica is the favorite beach of the capital's residents and embodies the authentic spirit of Santo Domingo. With its beautiful white sand beach, it offers a colorful world of scents, noises, and colors: hotels and restaurants on the beach, street vendors, fish fry kiosks, snapper dishes, tostones, and yaniqueques. Boca Chica is the ideal beach for everyone: while adults enjoy good food and some cold beer right on the beach, to the rhythm of merengue and bachata, the little ones enjoy swimming in the shallow, shallow waters of the bay. On the east side of town, a series of beach clubs and restaurants offer a refined and elegant setting overlooking the sea.

1.1.3SPDMC-San Pedro De Macoris

Distance: 17,2 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 42,7 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 55,8 nm
True Course: 86°
Magnetic Course: 98°

Keep skimming the coast's gentle arc eastward. The Caribbean's waves glitter on your right. After 20 nautical miles, San Pedro de Macoris rises, a bustling port framed by the Higuamo River's broad mouth, its pastel homes a vivid splash against the green.

San Pedro de Macoris earned its 'Sultana of the East' crown in the 19th-century sugar boom. Its name honoring St. Peter and the Macoris Taino. A cradle of baseball legends, Sammy Sosa among them, it pulses with Dominican pride, its Victorian mansions echoing a prosperous past. Today, fishing and tourism sustain its rhythm, a lively echo of cane and saltwater.

1.1.4LRMNA-La Romana

Distance: 19,4 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 62,1 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 36,4 nm
True Course: 96°
Magnetic Course: 108°

Follow the coastline bending southeast, as the Caribbean's hues deepen on your right. After flying over Ramon Santana Airport, you will soon be in sight of La Romana.

La Romana is a municipality of 139,671 inhabitants, and is the capital of the province of the same name. It also includes a municipal district: Caleta. Among the main attractions: Casa de Campo, an exclusive resort with golf and restaurants; Atlos de Chavón, historic Mediterranean village replica; Bayahibe Beach, Popular white beach with crystal clear waters.

1.1.5CHAYV-Chayon River

Distance: 5,1 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 67,2 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 31,2 nm
True Course: 79°
Magnetic Course: 92°

Turn slightly left and when you are on the Casa De Campo Airport, follow Autopista del Coral to the intersection with Chavon River.

The history of this river contains extremely interesting passages; From the origin of its name, possible corruption of the name Taino Bomana, until its use by known pirates to hide treasures. In colonial times it was used to transport the precious woods that were cut in the forests of its basin. At present the mouth of the river is dominated by the town of Altos de Chavón and at its exit is located the spectacular marina of Casa de Campo. After the dam of the river located on the bridge that crosses it we find a tropical space that can be visited in pleasant ships that transport tourists who want to enjoy the calm waters. It is a fairly large river that is born in the interior of the country to flow into the Caribbean Sea on the outskirts of the city of La Romana.

1.1.6ATPTC-Autopista del Coral

Distance: 5,3 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 72,5 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 26,0 nm
True Course: 45°
Magnetic Course: 57°

Head northeast and drive up the river until you meet the Autopista del Coral Highway. Leaving Chavón's wild embrace, set an heading of 060, soaring eastward over a patchwork of forest and farmland. The terrain flattens and the Autopista del Coral stretches below. A sleek highway slashing through the green, its asphalt spine a modern scar linking coast to coast. It binds Santo Domingo to Punta Cana and its name evoking the reefs it skirts

1.1.7HOAZU-Hoyou Azul

Distance: 21,4 nm
Dist. from Dept.: 93,9 nm
Dist. to Dest.: 4,6 nm
True Course: 83°
Magnetic Course: 95°

Once you reach Autopista del Coral, follow it. Pass the small airport of Baigua and reach Hoyo Azul, one of the Dominican Republic's most striking attractions.

Located within Scape Park, this natural cave offers refreshing swims in cool spring water. Hoyo Azul (the 'Blue Hole') reaches a depth of about 14 meters and is nestled in a lush rainforest at the foot of a 75-meter limestone cliff face covered with vegetation. To reach this hidden oasis you must cross a suspension bridge and pass through a multitude of flora and fauna, including an orchid garden. Dive into the inviting turquoise waters or descend the steps to quietly access this paradisiacal natural pool.

1.1.8MDPC-Punta Cana Intl

Distance:	4,6 nm
Dist. from Dept.:	98,5 nm
Dist. to Dest.:	0,0 nm
True Course:	81°
Magnetic Course:	93°

Once over Hoyo Azul you are already aligned with runway 09 at Punta Cana Airport. Land safely. Punta Cana is the easternmost tip of the Dominican Republic, bordering the Caribbean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean. It is a region known for its 32 km of beaches and crystal clear waters. The area of Bávaro and Punta Cana together form the area known as 'La Costa del Coco,' an area of luxurious all-inclusive resorts. It is popular for zip-lining, windsurfing, kayaking and sailing.