

The Door to Atlantis

For many Centuries the legend of Atlantis has intrigued man. Now Dr. Jacques Lemont of the Toulouse Museum of Ancient Man is pretty sure that the map he has been studying for months show--Not Atlantis itself but a Secret Door which if crossed by man or animal will lead to the lost continent. For many years many looked for the lost continent itself without knowing that in order to reach it, wherever it is, it was necessary to pass through the Mysterious Door of Fate!!!

It's early summer of 1937 here in France and Dr. Lemont has approached the French Government for support in this possible one of a kind discovery. He already has the permission of the Chilean Government to fly into the Southern Andean Mountains and do his search. Paris has approved the expedition and will fund it, even if the political situation in Europe is frankly deteriorating thanks to the Nazi leader of Germany.

The map is very old but he has made a reproduction which his pilots will need in order to scout the many coves and inlets in the very bottom of the American Continent. The area is very near the "Tierra del Fuego" land which the famous Darwin once walked in search of another adventure.

The Expedition has Arrived in Chile

Finally after many days the expedition is now on its base here in the cold Bay of CALAFATE in Argentina almost at the border with Chile.

Duart Secumbo a local guide has told Dr. Lemont that there is an old Dane by the name of Goydard Blum that lives in the town BAHIA TERROZA

He is sure the man saw something very odd and luminous when he was trapping in the inlets and islands of the South and suggests he flies out there and talk to the man. This will be your first flight but beware that the fog and winds around the area are very dangerous to say the least

FLY MISSION "ATLANTIS 01"

Dr. Lemont is very impressed by what the man Blum has told him-- "I will always remember the intensity of the blue light that came from this huge wall", had said the dane as he moved his big hands in front of his eyes, "I am sure of what I saw and believe me it's not of this world!!"

"There seemed to be a passage to another realm, another world" the big man had said, and with big opened eyes, blind eyes now, pronounced an omen "If I had had wings I would have gone in!!! since it was too high to climb. I returned to my hunting shack bewildered and had a bad dream and fever that went on for four days when I woke up I was blind as you see me now!!!!". Yes, The big dane was blind as a bat!

After a long roast duck dinner Dr. Lamont and his crew were invited to the local Mayor's home. Señor Bartolome Frambueso had been a fisherman all his life until he was elected Mayor of the town by a 93% vote to his favor. After some home made alcoholic beverage served in turtle shells he advised the Dr. "You must fly to PUNTA BURDA"

CHAPTER II

You will find a very significant statue that has been there for centuries as we have been told by our elders. They said that it is not of this world and that living near it your life spans like that of Dragons!!!"
