

FLIGHT TO MEDELLIN AND BOGOTA

A flight very common in the 60s from Panama City, Panama to Bogota, Colombia making one stop in Medellin

By Gera Godoy Canova...

Captain Ernesto Moravia is now retired but in the 1970s AND 80s he used to fly DC-6s and DC-7s carrying all kinds of freight. He now calls me and says “ Gera how about you firing up a DC-6 and I’ll be there in a while to make a flight?”...I immediatly start FSX and within a hour my old friend is sitting at the controls of his old plane!!!. We do this at least once a month and after the flight I am very lucky since I always get him to relate his flying adventures, there is always a great tale to hear.

(A bottle of good Italian wine and cheese usually accompany us)

This flight took place every week and usually in the early hours of the morning.
There were flights to most capital cities of South America and some to Cental America which I will try to bring on to you from time to time.

Hope you enjoy the flight and feel the pistons of the old DC-6 and DC-7 thrembling in your yoke...

Have a nice flight
